BRIMFIELD, MASS., 20th Dec., 1855. BRIMFIELD, MASS., 20th Dec., 1985.

Da. J. C. Ayin: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs. Hoarseness. Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CREMENT PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D. A. B. MORTLEY ESO. of Union N. A.B. MORTLEY, Esq., of Utica, N. Y., writes: "I have used your Protoral myself and in my family ever since you invented it, and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I shend sooner pay twenty five dollars for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remoster."

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza. Springerith, Miss., Feb. 7, 1856. Bastings Ater: I will cheeffully certify your Pretoral cough, croup, and the chest diseases of children. We of your frateruity lu the South appreciate your skill, and commend your medicine to our people HIBAM CONKLIN, M. D.

AMOS LER, Esq., MONTEREY, I.a., writes, 3d Jan., 1856:
"I had a ledious influenza which confined me in doors six weeks; took many mediclines without relief; finally tried your Proteral by the advice of our clergyman. The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and hings; less than one half the battle made me completely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies, the poor man's friend."

Siz: Your Cherry Pectoral is performing marvellous cares in this section. It has relieved several from slarming symptoms of consumption, and is now curing a manwho has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years.

HENRY L. PARKS, Merchant. A. A. RAMSEY, M. D., Albion, Monage Co., Iowa, writes, Sept. 6, 1855: "During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your Cherry Pectoral for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or enring such as are curable."

We might add volumes of evidence, but the most con vincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its affects upon trial.

no human aid can reach; but even to those the Cherry Petcord affords relief and comfort.

Aston House, New York Citr, March 5, 1956,
Doctor Ayra, Lowell: I feel it a duty and a pheasure to inform yon what your Cherry Peton has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptoms of Consumption, from which no aid we could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily failing, until Dr. Strong, of this city, where we have come for advice, recommended a trui of your medicine. We bless has bindness, as we do your skill; for she has recovered from that day. She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls herself well.

Yours with grattinde and regard.

Consumptives, do not despair till you have tried Aren's Cherry Pectoral. It is made by one of the less medical chemists in the world, and its cures all around us bespeak the high merits of its virtues. — P., iladelphia Ledger.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills. THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this test, mos.' perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these Pills have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win unprecedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penstrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the four in umors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate singuish or disor-dered organs into their natural action, and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they care the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangers on dispuses that have baffled the best of human shill. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being angar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exaited position and character as to forbid the suspicion of natruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my clothed in a low black dress, while Jean Babtistie varigated sash around his waist. His neck was quite bare. At precisely 1014 o'clock the solemn procession left the jail for the gallows. Deslorges walked in front, accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Villeneuve, while in the rear were a number of priests. After them followed Widow Belisle, who was supported by the hangman. She was accompanied by several nuns. From the time of leaving the jail till the scaffold was reached, prayers for the souls of the condemned were offered up. Arrived at the foot of the scaffold, both prisoners ascended to the top (forty-seven steps) without once faltering.

The sights and adventures of the PREVOST has already been briefly mentioned. The trip were numerous and interesting: Montreal Pilot, in a long account of the execution, says:

Father Villeneuve and two other priests ascended with them. The cords were then adjusted, and the prisoners placed upon the fatal drop. A few nunutes were then spent in silent prayer. Mr. Villeneuve then in a loud, clear voice, said to Jeane Baptiste Desforges, "Are you guilty of the marder for which you are about to suffer death?" Desforges replied, loudly and clearly, without a perceptible tremor, "I am guilty." Mr. Villeneuve again said, "Is the settence of death you are about to suffer a just one." To which he replied, "It is just." These same questions were then put to Widow Belisle, who also answered them clearly and firmly, in words precisely similar to those made use of by Deslorges. Mr. Vileneuve then spoke for about a minute and a half to the immense crowd. He said that the prisoners had confessed their guilt and were prepared to expiate their offense by death. He hoped that the awful doom of the prisoners would e a lesson to all who witnessed it. Both prisoners then kissed the crue fix, and at a signal the hangman slipped the bolt, the drop flew open and they fell a distance of five feet. The death of Desforges was instantaneous: not a single strugg was perceptible. Not so however with widow Be lisle. By some means the noose did not work correctly and eaught her under the chin, and for at least five minutes there was distinct evidence of respiration going on, and upwards of seven min-utes classed before she was pronounced dead.— Still there was no violent struggling. ### THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

One of our cotemporaries says, with great truth, that it is a proud thing to be a Democrat. Coeval with the Constitution, the old party has defended it and preserved it from every and is as fresh and vigorous now as when led by Jefferson against the Alien and Sedition Laws, or Jackson against the Bink. Every issue that is made against it, results in a public confession by all its opponents, of the truth of the Democratic principles and the wisdom of the Democratic principles principles and the wisdom of the Democratic policy. Every faction of a party that arises, calls itself the "true Democracy," National Republi-canism, Whingery, Know Nothingism and Black Republicanism; each in turn denounced the sham Democracy, each vaunted its pure fath, and each has been obliged to admit the falsehood of its pretensions. Thus Tariff, Bank, Internal Im-provements, have all resulted in a settlement according to the policy of the Democratic party.

Now, that the Democratic party is at its sum-mit of political power and prosperity in the United States -n w that the intelligence and patriotism of the country have fairly embraced the Democratic organization through which this noble victory has been won, is exposed to a new peril. It in danger of being regarded as an instrument ality whose work is accomplished, and which may be thrown aside. No view can be more errone-

It will not be questioned by Democrats, that to the action of the Democratic party-marshaled and militant and so triumphing over all the forms of opposition to it-every great step in our na-tional progress, and every successful approximation to the principles of good government in our domestic policy, are due. In this view, partisan organization and party spirit, in a broad and liberal sense of the term, have been the great in-struments by which our national well-being has been wrought out. To preserve these advan-tages, the Democratic organization in all its vigor

They clamor at the portals of executive power.— They beset the body politic in every form of in-fluence from abroad. They organize their corfluence from abroad. They organize their corrupt action at home by every artifice which can appeal to popular credulity, and every stimulant which can rouse personal passion. They take upon themselves the fairest names. Now they clamper for licentiousness under the name of licents. berty. Always they conceal personal ends and selfseeking under the guise of public benefits.—
They demand for classes peculiar and exclusive privileges, on the assumption that these are needful for the welfare of the people. They point to the splendid sins of the powerful and consolidated governments as excuses for undermining the rights of the States; and again by an equal perversion they cloak, under the sacred name of the rights of the States, the purposes of a fanaticism hosti e to the Constitution and the Union.

Against all these forms of peril and evil, the unbroken organization of the Democratic party is the only safe defense. Its time-honored princi-ples—its usages conformed to these, and embody-ing the practical political wisdom of successive generations -its great names which have been the of these are wanted to perpetuate and preserve the Democratic system of policy, and protect the country from the schemes and machinations of its cosponents. Our national experience has made the fact conspicious, that party organization and party discipline have been the shield of political virtue and the sword of political wisdom. In this zountry no party lines are to be dreaded. The death of partyism breeds corruption. In such an event politics becomes a personality, and legislations a stripe of safe himsersers.

It is the duty, therefore, of all Democrats, who have at heart the success either of the Democratic cause or of the Democratic organization, in which lies their strength. No man is a safe counsellor who would weaken it or break it down. Its work can never be felly accomplished, so long as the principles of good government are exposed to open or to covert assault. It must form the hope and relin co of the people, so long as they would protect their interests from the institions arts of corruption, and the flagrant excesses of mis; overument.

An incident on the Cars—One of the Girls who v. ent out West for Employment.

Conducter Woodall, of the Little Miami Railroad, is one of those dashing, generous fellows, to whom railroad life is just suited. He likes the daily mixing with the throng, the constant changing of faces, and delights to read the countenances as they pass. If there is anything pecu liar in a passenger on his train, Woodall will penetrate it, and no one is more ready, if occasion require, to tender a sympathizing word or a

A few days ago, a female, about sixteen years of age, got aboard of Woodall's train going East, at a village a few miles north of Cincinnati. approached her to collect fare.

"How far are you going," he asked.
"To New York," was her reply.

"I take you only as far as Columbus. The fare is three dollars to that point." The girl opened her pocket book, and took out two bank notes-a three and a one. The con observed that was all . the money in the pocket book, and, as she reached him the three, he asked:

'Is that all the money you have?"

"Yes, sir," was the reply.
"How do you expect to get to New York.

will travel until they put me off. Then I will go to work and earn money to carry me fur-"Indeed," remarked the conductor, now deep-ly interested in the girl. "And, many I ask, what is taking you to New York?" is my home, sir. A vear ago I was peraded to come West, being assured that working girls were better paid here than there. I came out to L., and was engaged in the family of Mr. — I lived with them a few months, when they went out West. I then engaged with a farmer, but was taken down with the chills and fever, from which I have not yet recovered. I have worked hard for a year, and these four dollars constitute all my savings. I am sick, and I am going home. Probably I can get work as I go along to pay my way."

This story was told so candidly that the conductor, who had watched the narrator closely, could not doubt its truth.

"If this is the case, I cannot take your money," e said. "Indeed, sir, it is true." he said.

"Then take your money back," was his answer and he passed along. Through with his collection, he related the circumstances to a couple of gentlemen passengers, and proposed to head a subscription list if they would go through the train and take up a collec-tion for the girl. The gentlemen readily agreed to this, and in a few minutes had the pleasure of handing the girl some seventeen dollars, enough to pay her way to New York. She knew nothing to pay her way to New York. She knew nothing of the movement until she received the money, when her grateful feelings gave vent in copious Lynch, James A. Lewis, Miss Mary 2 tears. No one doubted her hone-ty.

But Woodall was not satisfied. Before she left the train, he gave her a memorandum setting forth the route s'e should take, and a card which the requested her to use instead of tickets. On the card was written the following:

"To MY BROTHER CONDUCTORS.—I have passed this worthy young lady on my train to Columbus. A 'collection was taken up for her, and seventeen dol'ar s placed in her hands by the passengers.— For God's sake don't take one cent of it.

Woodall, Conductor Little Miami Railroad." This, no doubt, enabled her to reach home safely, and with money in her purse .- Cincinnati Judge Wheat as a Voter.

We clip the following article from the Bardstown Gazette. If the charges are true, and we presume they are-they need no comment.

To enable our friends in this Appellate district to form some idea of the "affection" entertained for them, by Mr Wheat, we will re-publish an extract from the Gazette of Aug. 19,1857. The circum stance occured in the county where he (Mr. W.) "I ves, moves, has his being,"—and votes. Here it is:

The writer says, "there is another matter con indical election (in 1857," nected with this same judicial election (in 1857,) that we want to talk about to those kind-hearted Democrats, down in the southern part of the Ap-pellate indicial district. We all know that Judge What before that election, while a candidate, professed not to be a party candidate, and solicited and obtained the votes of many persons, on that ground, while some of his intimate friends in-sisted that no nomination had been, or would be made. This was done publicly and repeatedly, and at the same time the "eternal secret circular writer" (Blanton Duncan) was poking up the faithful by assuring them that Bullitt's election would 'enliven' the Democracy and dispirit and discourage Americans. Well, the game wou, and Judge Wheat was elected, by Democratic totes, for if all the democrats that went to the polls had voted for Bullitt, as they should have done, Bullitt and not Wheat would have been elected. In the late election (1857) there were two condidates for the legislature, in Addis county. Indee Wheat's county. islature, in Adair county—Judge Wheat's county—E. Russell, a clever young lawyer, (we think with a Catholic wife,) was the Democratic candidate. The other candidate was a notorious character in Adair and the adjoining counties, S. Wheeler, by name, a man without one single redeeming trait; dissipted rowdy, a notorious rake, who at the age of wenty two or twenty five married an old lady of 3 twenty two or twenty five married an old lady of Garrard or Lincoln county, at the age of "sweet sixty-two," or thereabouts—looking old enough for his own grand-mother, the owner of a very likely family of negroes and other property. He, too, was not the candidate of any party—for no party could have been found so lost to decency, as to have recognized him in that capacity. As an evidence of this only one hundred and twenty five men could be found in all Advir county to vote for him against Russell, and we regret to learn that Judge Z. Wheat was one of the one hunfor him against Russell, and we regret to learn that Judge Z. Wheat was one of the one hundred twenty-five! Now the Democrats, of Advir, Taylor, Green, Monroe, Barren and Hart—you that elevated Judge Wheat to his present position—don't you think he is suitable person for the know nothing party to vote for, but how does he suit a democrat?—We should like to know whethher it was Sikes Wheeler's rich old wife whose slaves he is "working off" so fast, or Fd. Russell's Chatholic wife, that decided the grave matter of Judge Wheat's choice of member of the Legislature for Adair county—see if that load of Legislature for Adair county-see if that load of heat don't sour on other people's stomachs!"

Well, we hope our dem cratic friends will cut that out and piete it in their hats, and read it every time they take them off.

CARRIE PERKIN'S PRAVER .- Little Carrie Perkin's was a great pet of mine; indeed, she was the sunbeam of the house. She was only three years sunbeam of the house. She was only three years old, but had a strangely mature way of talking some times, that made her seem very interesting. Every night I went to her room for a good night kiss; and never shall forget how sweetly she used to look in her little night dress, as she knelt down at her mother's side and said;

"Our Father;" nor how reverently she used to told her little hands at the close and seen.

"Shouldn't 1?" said the little pratter; "I love God, and why shouldn't I say good night to him before I go to sleep, just as I do to you and Aunt Annie?"

Her mather looked thoughtful, but only replied by kissing her, and always after that she repeated her good night petition.

Their regulating action on the Inter'is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldon found a case of bilious discase so distinct that 't did not readily yield to them.

Dr. Ata: Your Pills are the perfection of medicine.

They have done my wife more good than I can tell you. She had been sick and pining away for m. with. Went off to be declored at great expense, but got no befter. She then commenced taking your Pills, which soon cured her, by expelling large quantities of worms (dead) from her body. They afterwards cured her and our two children of cloody dysentery. One of our neighbors had it bad, and my wife cured him with two doess of your Pills, while ithers around us paid from five to twenty dollars doctors bills, and lost much time, without being cured entirely good and honest, will be prized here.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town, and aimost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among them some living trophy of its viciery over the aubits and dangerous diseases of the threat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formiable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasancest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steaks upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the Cherry Pectoral saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the inexorable canker that, fastened on the vitais, eats your life away All know the dreadful fatallty of lung disorders, and they know too the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them it is still made the lest it can be. We spare no cost, no care, no toll to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford those who rely the it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cura.
